THE EXHIBITION

OFFICIAL EXHIBITION GUIDE

"Hello, I'm David Heyman, the producer on all the Harry Potter films. Now that you have visited Harry Potter: The Exhibition, I hope you'll take a moment to enjoy the artifacts and accompanying content featured in this companion book. Inside the following pages, you'll see a one-of-a-kind collection of props, costumes, creatures, and other artifacts that have been created by a collection of artists and craftspeople. On behalf of all the people who have worked on the Harry Potter films, we hope you'll enjoy this book."

HOGWARTS™ ARRIVAL

Each year, dozens of witches and wizards travel from London to Hogwarts via the Hogwarts Express. The train stops at Hogsmeade™ Station, where Rubeus Hagrid™, Keeper of Keys and Grounds at Hogwarts, escorts the first-years to the castle via a fleet of small boats, and returning students climb into carriages that will take them to the castle.

FLYING FORD ANGLIA

SIRIUS BLACK

"WANTED" POSTER

Left: In Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban, Sirius Black™ "Wanted" posters were displayed in Hogsmeade following his escape from Azkaban. Sirius was a member of the Order of the Phoenix™, and Harry Potter's godfather.

"[We had] sixteen cars. They came in all sorts of colors. But we had to . . . match them all up. We had wing mirrors and wheels and wheel trims . . . coming out of our cars."

—John Richardson, Special Effects Supervisor

GRYFFINDOR™

COMMON ROOM

The Gryffindor common room can be found in one of Hogwarts castle's towers. Gryffindor students spend much of their time in their common room when not in class. It is decorated in Gryffindor's colors of scarlet and gold.

WIZARD MONEY

Right: Wizard currency, including Galleons, Sickles, and Knuts.

PORTRAIT GALLERY

Right: The portrait gallery, where the painting of the Fat Lady is hung. The Fat Lady, who guards the entrance to the Gryffindor common room, will only allow entry upon being given the correct password, which changes frequently.

QUIDDITCH BOARD GAME

Above: Gryffindor students study, relax, and play games, such as this Quidditch™ board game, in their common room.

"That was a pretty significant moment, casting Harry, Ron, and Hermione. [Those characters are] the heart of these films—more than the visual effects, more than anything, more than the fantasy. It's those kids [who] make the story feel real and relatable."

—David Heyman, Producer

HARRY, RON, AND HERMIONE

COMMON ROOM ITEMS

Items in the common room include the dress shoes worn by Neville as he practiced his dance steps for the Yule Ball in Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire, as well as various items that have appeared throughout the Harry Potter films—wizard money (Galleons, Sickles, Knuts), pumpkin juice bottles, periodicals like the Daily Prophet and The Quibbler, and assorted wands.

MIMBULUS MIMBLETONIA

Right: Neville Longbottom™ (Matthew Lewis), loyal friend to Harry Potter and fellow Gryffindor, has a passion for Herbology. Above: Next to Neville's shoes are his Mimulus mimbletonia and related pruning kit from Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix.

WANDS

Above: Harry Potter's wand (top)—made of holly with a phoenix feather core from Fawkes's tail—and Hermione Granger's wand (middle). Ron Weasley's wand (bottom) was broken when he and Harry crashed the flying car into the Whomping Willow™ during Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets.

"Harry's wand is iconic. It's what you see nearly every time you see him . . . [Wands] are, more than any other piece in the film, a demonstration of the owner's character."

—Pierre Bohanna, Head of Department: Modeler

"The Time-Turner essentially . . . is like a piece of jewelry . . . I wish I had one sometimes."

—Pierre Bohanna, Head of Department: Modeler

TIME-TURNER

Left: The Time-Turner, which takes its user back one hour with each turn of the hourglass, was used by Hermione to take additional classes at Hogwarts during her third year. Below left: Harry (Daniel Radcliffe) and Hermione (Emma Watson) use the Time-Turner to travel back in time and save Sirius Black and Buckbeak™ in Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban.

DUMBLEDORE'S ARMY PARCHMENT

Above: The parchment signed in the Hog's Head pub by students who enlisted as members of Dumbledore's Army—as seen in Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix.

HARRY POTTER'S TRUNK

Right and below: In his dormitory, Harry (Daniel Radcliffe) studies the Marauder's Map. Hedwig™, his owl, is perched by his side. The map was given to Harry by Fred and George Weasley™ during Harry's third year at Hogwarts.

"[We had to make] thirty or [so] of [the Marauder's Map] for the set, because sometimes . . . they get destroyed or folded up and put in Harry's pocket . . . So it had to be something that could be reproduced, although it [needed] to look like [it was] made by hand."

—Miraphora Mina, Graphics and Prop Designer

GRYFFINDOR BOYS' DORMITORY

Harry shares a dormitory room with four other Gryffindor boys in his year. The room has five large four-poster beds with scarlet draping that is patterned with astrological signs, unicorns, and stars; beveled-glass windows; and trunks to hold the boys' personal belongings.

GOLDEN EGG

Above: The golden egg retrieved by Harry Potter from the clutches of the Hungarian Horntail dragon during the first task of the Triwizard Tournament™.

RON WEASLEY'S TRUNK

Left: A collection of items from Ron Weasley's trunk—including a copy of Seeker Weekly; various items celebrating Ron's favorite Quidditch team, the Chudley Cannons; and the Howler sent to Ron by Mrs. Weasley in Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets, admonishing him for stealing his father's flying car.

HOGWARTS CLASSES

The Potions classroom at Hogwarts is located in the dungeons. It is dark and colder than the rest of the castle. Each student has their own cauldron in which they learn how to brew all sorts of solutions, draughts, and elixirs. The Divination classroom is located at the top of Hogwarts' North Tower—and looks more like a cross between someone's attic and an old-fashioned teashop than a classroom. Divination students use tea leaves and crystal balls, among other things, in an effort to predict the future. Herbology classes take place in the greenhouses behind Hogwarts castle. Here, students learn all about magical plants—which become more interesting and dangerous each year of study.

PROFESSOR SPROUT'S ROBES

Robes (foreground) worn by Herbology Professor Pomona Sprout—who taught students about Mandrakes. Behind the robes are Mandrakes re-potted by the Slytherin™ and Gryffindor Herbology class in Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets.

MANDRAKES

Right: Mandrakes, as seen in Herbology class in Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets. The Herbology teacher, Professor Sprout, used grown Mandrakes to treat those Petrified by the Basilisk during Harry's second year.

CRYSTAL BALL

Far right: Harry (Daniel Radcliffe) and Ron (Rupert Grint) attempt to see the future in Divination class using a crystal ball.

POTIONS ITEMS

Above: Items from Professor Slughorn's Potions classroom, as seen in Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince, including the vial used to hold the Felix Felicis potion and the box containing bezoars.

POTIONS PROFESSORS' ROBES

PROFESSOR TRELAWNEY'S ROBES

Above and left: Robes worn by Divination Professor Sybill Trelawney (Emma Thompson) in Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix. Professor Trelawney is the Seer who made the prophecy about Harry Potter and Lord Voldemort.

POTIONS TEXTBOOKS

Above: Copies of Advanced Potion-Making and Magical Crafts and Potions. Severus Snape was the Potions master during Harry's first five years at Hogwarts. During Harry's sixth year, Horace Slughorn took over the post—and Harry began to excel in the subject... although his success was largely due to his copy of Advanced Potion-Making, previously owned by the Half-Blood Prince™.

"We had to make some rubberized [crystal balls] that fall down the stairs in [Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire]. And the difficulty we had with that was stopping them from bouncing, because they're like giant kids' balls."

—Pierre Bohanna, Head of Department: Modeler

DEFENSE AGAINST THE DARK ARTS

Students at Hogwarts learn to defend themselves against Dark Magic in the Defense Against the Dark Arts classroom—which contains a number of magical artifacts used during lessons. Rumor has it that the post of Defense Against the Dark Arts professor has been jinxed since Dumbledore™ refused to give it to Tom Riddle™ (now Lord Voldemort™) years ago. No professor has lasted longer than a year in the position since then.

DARK ARTS ITEMS

Left: A Defense Against the Dark Arts General Knowledge test with various personal questions about Professor Lockhart, and Lockhart's wand, publicity shots, and stationery set.

CORNISH PIXIES

Below: Cornish pixies were released in the Defense Against the Dark Arts classroom by Professor Gilderoy Lockhart™ in Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets. Lockhart, who taught during Harry's second year, ended his career at Hogwarts when he was hit with his own Memory Charm.

TRAVELS WITH TROLLS

PROFESSOR LOCKHART'S ROBES

Left and opposite: Robes worn by Professor Gilderoy Lockhart (Kenneth Branagh) while teaching his first Defense Against the Dark Arts class in Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets.

"We painted a life-size portrait of [Gilderoy Lockhart] painting himself, and filled the rest of the rooms with photographs of him doing impossible sporting things, quite unlike his real character."

—Stephanie McMillan, Set Decorator

PROFESSOR LUPIN'S ROBES

PROFESSOR LUPIN'S CLASSROOM

Below left: Various items from Professor Lupin's Defense Against the Dark Arts classroom, including Lupin's wand, a book about Dark Forces, and gramophone records.

JACK-IN-THE-BOX

Top: The giant jack-in-the-box as seen in Professor Lupin's lesson on Boggarts.

GIANT SPIDER

Above: The giant spider seen by Ron Weasley when confronting the Boggart in Defense Against the Dark Arts.

WARDROBE

The wardrobe in which the Boggart was kept in Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban. Boggarts take the shape of whatever a person most fears.

"Dolores Umbridge is all about pink . . . We used some mohair, we used some angora on the sweaters—anything which was contrary [to] her character. What I decided to do was to make the pink harder and harder during the film, and [finish with] an atrocious pink—a pink [that] was hard to look at. And that was my way of making her meaner and meaner."

—Jany Temime, Costume Designer

DETENTION QUILL

Right: Paper and "special" quill given to Harry Potter by Professor Umbridge to use for his detention in Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix. The quill carved the line "I must not tell lies" into the back of Harry's hand.

TEXTBOOK

Portrait Art Work
A framed portrait of Minister Fudge (Robert Hardy) displayed in Umbridge's office next to her wand. The Minister for Magic sent Dolores Umbridge to Hogwarts to teach Defense Against the Dark Arts and to spy on Professor Dumbledore.

PROFESSOR UMBRIDGE'S CLOTHING

KITTEN PLATES

Right: Kitten plates seen covering the walls of Professor Umbridge's very pink office.

"[Umbridge] didn't really teach at all and hers was just purely textbook teaching. So the [class]room was completely empty, apart from the desks and the blackboard... [But in] her office upstairs, the walls were painted in bright pink, all the furniture [was] pink, the curtains [were] pink, and of course the kitten plates on the walls scream[ed] at visitors."

—Stephenie McMillan, Set Decorator

QUIDDITCH

Quidditch is the most popular sport in the wizarding world. A bit like soccer, it is played on broomsticks—in mid-air—with four different-sized balls: one Quaffle, which the Chasers try and get through one of the hoops; two Bludgers, which rocket around trying to knock players off their brooms; and one Golden Snitch™, which is bewitched to evade capture as long as possible. There are seven players on each side: three Chasers, who throw the Quaffle to each other and try and get it through one of the hoops to score a goal (worth ten points); two Beaters, who use small clubs called "Beater's Bats" to keep the Bludgers from knocking teammates (and themselves) off their brooms; one Keeper, who flies around his or her team's hoops to stop the other team from scoring; and one Seeker, who must catch the Golden Snitch and—hopefully—win the game.

"Internally, [brooms are] actually very complicated. They have a lot of aircraft-standard material such as titanium [and] heat-treated aluminums . . . so that they can be as fine and as thin as possible but also . . . cope with the strains of what the effects guys need to do with them."

—Pierre Bohanna, Head of Department: Modeler

"The Slytherin [Quidditch] players are in green. [In the sixth film, what we did to make them slightly more dangerous [was] to add some silver stripe[s] and some black stars . . . The black stars give them a little bit of a [Roman], fascist, military look."

—Jany Temime, Costume Designer

WORLD CUP ITEMS

Above and left: A Quidditch program, tickets to the finals, and binoculars used at the Quidditch World Cup in Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire.

QUIDDITCH ROBES

Below: Various Quidditch items, including the Gryffindor Quidditch robes worn by Oliver Wood (left) and Slytherin Quidditch robes worn by Draco Malfoy™ (right) in Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets, and the Hufflepuff™ Quidditch robes worn by Cedric Diggory (middle) in Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban.

Hagrid's Hut

Keeper of Keys and Grounds at Hogwarts, Rubeus Hagrid lives with his dog, Fang, in a hut on the edge of the Forbidden Forest. As Hagrid is half-giant, all of the furniture and many of the other items in his home are oversized.

CASUAL CLOTHING

BUCKBEAK

Right: Buckbeak the Hippogriff.

Hagrid's Hut
 Inside Hagrid's hut are a massive wooden table and chairs; a stone fireplace with fireplace pokers and cooking utensils; and animal cages, baskets, and pots that hang from the walls and ceiling.

THE MONSTER BOOK OF MONSTERS

HAGRID'S CLOTHING

Far left: Rubeus Hagrid, Keeper of Keys and Grounds at Hogwarts (Robbie Coltrane).

*"For The Monster Book of Monsters, we had to build a book that could raise its eyes out of the cover, blink, snap its teeth, roll its tongue, and wriggle. It had to be able to squirm. Since we produced all the books for the scene with the lesson with Hagrid, our department had books everywhere you looked—all of them securely tied with straps, of course, because . . . you never know."*

—Nick Dudman, Prosthetics and Make-up Effects Designer

FORBIDDEN FOREST

Top: Harry Potter (Daniel Radcliffe) and Draco Malfoy (Tom Felton) enter the Forbidden Forest with Kagrid's dog, Fang, in Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone.

CENTAUR

Above: Centaurs, who live in the Forbidden Forest, have the legs and body of a horse and the torso, arms, and head of a man.

"The [Hungarian] Horntail Dragon is a completely [computer generated] creature. But just because it's completely digital in its final form doesn't mean it doesn't exist at some stage as a solid object . . . [It's] necessary with a very big creature like [the] Horntail to [increase] the scale, because you're going to scan [the] model into the computer. And you want the maximum amount of detail. So we went for the scale of the actual creature."

—Nick Dudman, Prosthetics and Make-up Effects Designer

THE FORBIDDEN FOREST

The Forbidden Forest is a dark forest on the Hogwarts grounds. It is strictly forbidden to all pupils. Home to all types of magical creatures including unicorns, Acromantula (giant spiders), centaurs, and Thestrals, the Forest is well-known to Hagrid—who lives at its edge and teaches his Care of Magical Creatures class there.

HUNGARIAN HORNTAIL DRAGON

Above: A life-sized model of the head of the Hungarian Horntail dragon. The dragon was kept in the Forbidden Forest before Harry faced it in the first task of the Triwizard Tournament in Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire.

THESTRAL™

Above: A baby Thestral, as seen with Luna Lovegood in Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix. Thestrals are winged, skeletal horses that can be seen only by those who have witnessed death.

ACROMANTULA

Below: An Acromantula (a member of Aragog's family) encountered by Ron and Harry in the Forbidden Forest in Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets.

DARK FORCES

Lord Voldemort and his followers, the Death Eaters, use Dark Magic—like the Unforgivable Curses—to gain power in the wizarding world. They have been known to use other creatures, such as Dementors™, a Basilisk, and even humans, in an attempt to secure power. Voldemort's sign—the Dark Mark—is branded onto the left arm of every Death Eater. It is also the symbol cast into the sky whenever Death Eaters have killed in Voldemort's name. Ever since Voldemort's powers were destroyed when he attempted to murder Harry Potter as a baby, the Dark Lord and his allies have tried to capture and kill Harry to fulfill a prophecy that would allow Voldemort to survive—in turn allowing him to regain his power.

DEATH EATER COSTUMES

Right: Death Eater robes and masks as seen in Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire.

DEMENTOR

Below: An illustration of a Dementor, first seen in Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban.

“[In Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire], we had silhouette[s] of [Death Eaters] appearing outside . . . That’s why I [gave] them those black leather pointed hats, because I just wanted to have shapes, very graphic shapes, against gray sky.”

—Jany Temime, Costume Designer

ANGEL OF DEATH STATUE

The Angel of Death statue (also seen opposite) used by Wormtail™ to restrain Harry Potter (Daniel Radcliffe) in the graveyard at Little Hangleton in Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire.

LORD VOLDEMORT'S ROBES

Robes worn by Lord
Voldemort (Ralph Fiennes)
during his confrontation with Harry in the graveyard in
Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire.

"When we did the first test on Ralph [Fiennes], he looked great [as Lord Voldemort]. But then David Heyman . . . said, 'I'd love to see him with his nose reduced.' And the minute [we did that], it stripped him of the humanity. So he's actually a perfect combination—real actor, real makeup, [and] digital manipulation."

—Nick Dudman, Prosthetics and Make-up Effects Designer

DARK FORCES

Items from Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone, including the giant pawn (far left) and giant rook (far right) chess pieces; casual clothing worn by Harry Potter; and the robes and turban worn by Defense Against the Dark Arts Professor Quirrell as he searched for the Sorcerer's Stone within the Mirror of Erised™.

TOM RIDDLE'S DIARY AND THE BASILISK FANG

Below: Tom Riddle's diary, pierced by Harry with a Basilisk fang in Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets.

PETRIFIED COLIN CREEVEY

"We did a lot of design work on what that meant [to be Petrified] visually, and decided the best approach was to produce silicone dummies of the various people who were Petrified. And we [could] make that look like real flesh in close-up, right down to the pores in the skin and each individual hair punched in. The whole process probably [took] about two and a half months."

—Nick Dudman, Prosthetics and Make-up Effects Designer

LORD VOLDEMORT'S WAND

Above: Lord Voldemort's wand—made of yew with a phoenix tail feather core. It is linked to Harry's wand by virtue of the fact that the same phoenix (Fawkes™) provided the feather for the core of both wands.

EDUCATIONAL DECREES

Various Educational Decrees handed down by Professor Umbridge and posted on the walls of Hogwarts by Argus Filch in Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix.

GREAT HALL

Lit by thousands of candles that float above the room, and with a ceiling bewitched to look like the sky outside, the Great Hall at Hogwarts serves as the main meeting area for students—and is where students share meals and receive owl post. The start-of-term feast, Sorting Ceremony, and the end-of-term feast are held here, as are special events like the Yule Ball.

DOBBY™

Left: Dobby the house-elf, as seen in Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets.

GREAT HALL ITEMS

Far left: Various items displayed in the Great Hall, including games, sweets, and O.W.L. exam papers.

GOBLET OF FIRE ENTRY SLIPS

Above: Bits of parchment used by students to enter their names into the Goblet of Fire.

SWEETS

"The Triwizard Cup . . . was a really difficult piece to make, because it obviously has the metal elements but also a lot of clear quartz effect . . . Once we finished the first piece, we then had to go back again and replicate [it] exactly as a rubberized piece—which was difficult because clear rubber is not something you find on the shelves."

— Pierre Bohanna, Head of Department: Modeler

"Because I'm French myself, I think the worst thing [that] can happen to a French girl is to be [in] the rain in Scotland... The [Beauxbatons girls] look so soft and completely [not] adapted to the climate. And that's what I wanted to show."

HERMIONE'S EARRINGS

Left: Hermione's earrings, worn to the Yule Ball, as seen in Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire.

"One of the most exciting sets of all the films was the transformation of the Great Hall for the Yule Ball in the Goblet of Fire. We covered all the walls with silver fabric and hung matching silver curtains [on] all the windows, [using] literally thousands of meters of fabric. The stone gargoyles and lamps were turned to silver... Best of all were the magical lit ice sculptures on the food and drinks tables. The whole operation took several weeks and had to be organized like a military maneuver."
